Press FAQ

1. What can PASSNFLY do for you?

- automatically detects all your upcoming flights and lists them in one screen
- checks you in your flights from your mobile in seconds
- automated checking in by storing all your personal data inside PASSNFLY
- assigns your seat according to your preferences
- delivers your boarding pass automatically to your mobile device
- reminds you to get a printed copy of your mobile boarding pass if you're running low on battery
- allows you to obtain a printable copy of your boarding pass for airlines that do not support mobile boarding passes or for routes where scanning is not supported
- simplifies your air travel through a single application supporting more than 200 airlines

2. Who is PASSNFLY for?

- people who travel with more than just one or multiple airlines and frequent travellers

3. How was the idea for PASSNFLY born?

- While sitting at the airport near boarding gate, I saw people busy with their mobile phones. Once boarding started, all the phones disappeared and people searched for their paper boarding pass. That was 1995. Immediately after I began the search for a solution that could provide mobile boarding passes for multiple airlines.

4. Does PASSNFLY's service cost anything?

- The service has a free trial period of either 30 days or 5 free flights. A service fee for each automatically processed check-in including flight status applies thereafter, based on a monthly subscription or per-flight.

5. Which devices does PASSNFLY support?

- The App is available for BlackBerry and iPhone. Currently we're working on an Android and Windows Phone version to be rolled out soon. If you want to get notified when ready at passnfly.com/alert

6. When did PASSNFLY launch its App?

- Early 2012 on BlackBerry.

7. Are there any early metrics available so far?

- 112 first users in the first 2 weeks from all over the world as there is USA, China, Korea and UK, to name just a few with over 60 upcoming flights from 23 airlines

8. What are the future plans of PASSNFLY?

- In the near future PASSNFLY will extend its service to also allow bag check-in, real-time tracking and claims. Also we're planning last-minute seat and cabin upgrades right away from your mobile device as well as simple booking of post-flight transportation to allow fast and easy departure from the airport once you arrive.
- Future plans are focused on connecting travellers with airlines and airports through a single mobile app, empowering existing communications to become mobile and make air travel a hassle-free and seamless experience.
- Geographically PASSNFLY will improve coverage in the Americas and later on in Asia-Pacific.

9. Who is the team behind PASSNFLY?

- PASSNFLY has been founded by Louis Tag who serves PASSNFLY as its CEO. Shortly after Carlos Henriquez joined as CIO to manage our solution development.
- Pau Dueñas from Morillas Brand Design and Gary take care about our Design Thinking. Our user engagement is driven by Jonatan Danon.
- A wider team of advisers made possible to put together all the know-how it took us to provide PASSNFLY's solution.

10. Who are the owners and how is PASSNFLY funded?

- PASSNFLY is privately held and funded by private angel investors so far. Also the ministry of economics of Spain supports PASSNFLY with public subventions.

11. Where are the headquarters?

- Headquarter is in the technology district 22@ of Barcelona, Spain.
